Hi John - glad to send you some quick info, let me know what more would be helpful. I'm in the office today since John and the kids have off and i can get some hours in with few interruptions!

You do know about the whole Platt family reunion group that hangs out annually in Connecticut (I think my dad actually went one year in the early 80s). Anyway, this is a group that has kept up a lot of geneological work. You know about the BIG platt geneology that was printed sometime in the last 30 years or so? (probably your folks have one).

Here's the info you requested:

1. my kids are Laura Eleanor Platt Butler (no hyphen!), d.o.b. 9/10/90 and Sarah Rebecca Platt Butler d.o.b. 2/5/93

2. My mother was the 6th child of Florence Gossard Adams and Henry William Adams, and was born in Detroit mich, on 11/9/20 and died in Montclair, NJ on 10/22/77. She had 3 brothers and 2 sisters, only one sister is still living. Let me know what more details you might want, there is one cousin who keeps up lots of geneology on this side of the family. I have 10 first cousins on Adams side, there are 15 in the next generation including my two girls (i.e. the kids of my first cousins).

3. John Robert Butler was born in Panama City, Republic of Panama, on 3/15/55. The first of three children of Marilyn Fromm Butler and Charles Owen Butler. He has two younger sisters. There is a lot of gene. work on the butler side - his dad has one only one brother but had 52 first cousins, his uncle still lives on the family farm in NOrth Alabama and 150+ butlers have a great picnic every year.

Speaking of family, my adams cousins had a big weekend reunion this past summer in vermont - grew out of a smaller "reunion" at the funeral of the last uncle in Toledo in 1996 - we had such a great time together that we may make it a regular event. It was quite amazing in 97 to see 7 of the next generation (i.e. 7 of the 15 second cousins mentioned above) together - and to realize they all had the same great grandmother. At the toledo funeral the summer before, some of us hadn't seen each other in 25+ years, ditto for 97.

Anyhow, this has got me thinking about whether platt cousins would be interested in pulling off something similar in the next millenium (if not before). Talk to your sibs and see what you all think. My brother michael isn't so interested in all this family stuff, but David, who rarely travels, got to vermont and enjoyed every minute.

I'm still in touch, sporadically, with Karen Nylund (who is in Burlington, VT or New Hamp., can't remember which). I think Eric is in Colorado??? anyhow, we could pick some midpoint and all show up for a couple days. Who knows, could be minnesota, or i'd actually probably vote for Kansas City, so your folks could be there (seems like you all said they are not travelling much any more). At our vermont reunion we had one aunt (beloved 2nd wife of one of my mom's deceased brother) in her 70s and one "aunt companion" (ditto but not ever married to another deceased brother) in her 90s who came from Seattle.

We are doing ok - also a very mild winter here which is to my liking. Greetings to phil and Virginia - i've been totally out of touch.
Love, Barb P.

PLATT GENEALOGY NOTES

undated manuscript notes from Henry Edmund Platt; paper is yellowing so some questions may be too late to check up on...

re: George Asa Platt, 58 Pleasant Drive, Hamburg (?) NY:

1. If his father, Horace James Platt, had a younger brother George Whitfield Platt who was not listed (born 11/13/1838 in Marcellus NY). George Whitfield would have been the 6th son (5 are listed). Platt Genealogy shows 3 sons lived to maturity.

George Warner Platt (born 1888) mentioned a frame home his grandfather Joseph built and his father was born in; still standing with Platts living there in 1930's when he (George Warner) saw it.

Did George Asa's grandfather Joseph live in Marcellus in 1833? George Whitfield would have been born between Joseph's daughters, Sarah and Frances.

George Whitfield was a Captain in a NY Regiment in the Civil War. Went to Topeka KS shortly after the war.

Did George Whitfield have an old brother named Charles (13 years older), a half brother William (10 years older) plus 2 older (Horace J and Fanny M) and one younger sibling (David W) all of whom died in infancy?

How about sister, Lydia, 11 years older
Frances (?) M - born 1831, died in infancy
Frances H -- 2 years younger

Geo. Washington Rogers -
9 kids
3 died infancy

What was George Whitfield's mother's name? Emma Dodge? Anna Ackerman (?) Olive Earl (?)

Did he have any brothers or sisters?

Did his mother die at his birth?

I should mail cousin Barbara on the off chance she has additional information about the Platt side; I should also include the Adams side of her family.

I could try to locate cousins Eric and Karen to see if they have any information.

Perhaps the most useful link for the Rogers side would be the Ohio Vital Statistics, which seems to be available on CD. I wonder about the southern Rogers families. Most can be eliminated from information on birth dates, but there may be a connection farther back. However, until I figure out the riddle of Jacob Rogers there is no way to even start on that.

November 8, 1997:

This evening made a good discovery on the Internet of two things. First, where to get death certificate copies from Ohio for dates before (I think) 1867. Until that time, the records were maintained by the Probate Court in each county. Also, a perusal of burial dates in Darke County cemetaries showed that there were still Rogers and Hartzell families there as late as 1972, and may be yet.

The list follows:

Wilson Rogers, d. 1968, age 85, Abbotsville Cemetary
Elsie Rogers, d. 1969, Greenmound Cemetary, age 78.
Leota Rogers, no age given, d. 1969, Abbotsville.
Ralph Edwin Rogers, age 70, d. 1972, Hollansburg Cemetary

Ralph Platt, age 68, d. 1972, Hollansburg Cemetary.

Carolyn Louise Hartzell, age 79, Beamsville Cemetary, Jan. 4, 1977
(note "Louise"; tenuous link to Louisa? This would make sense only if she had never married and Hartzell was her birth name)
Paul C. Hartzell, age 76, d. September 15, 1967, Gettysburg Cemetary

It might be instructive to check those cemetary lists for other names.

[1] The information on John Sebring's middle name via a Welty researcher on the Internet. I sent her some information also on 11/8/97. Get her name! I need to check Mary Catherine Rogers' memoirs for what she has to say about Sebring.

[2] Possibility of alternate spelling comes from information in membership list of Shook's Chapel Society. John and Hannah Sebring were members there; it seems reasonable the Thomas and Sarah Blakeley who were also listed as members may have been Phoebe's relatives, though this is entirely conjectural at this point.

PHIL'S HANDY SUMMARY OF HIS (AND MY) PATERNAL GENEAOLOGY

Simon Platt, tailor
Born ca. 1530 in Ware, Herfortshire, England
Died April 12, 1594 in Ware

George Platt, tailor
Born May 13, 1582 in Ware (this date seems too late, but possible)
Died April 20, 1609

Richard Platt (the immigrant)
born May 6, 1604 in Ware
emigrated to New Haven, CT, 1638; moved to Milford CT shortly thereafter.
Died February 13, 1684 or 1686 in Milford, CT
Married Mary Wood (10/26/97: I have found Mary Wood's parents on the Web.)

Issac Platt
second son of Richard I
born April 10, 1633 in Ware
Died July 31, 1691 in Huntingdon, Long Island NY

John Platt
second son of Issac
Born June 29, 1669 in Huntingdon
Died ca. 1731

John Platt
first son of John
Born in Huntington, n.d.
Died Smithtown, Long Island, n.d.

Eliphalet Platt
third son of John
Born July 12, 1733 in Huntington
Died July 3, 1795 in Pleasant Valley NY

Joseph Platt
second son of Henry
Born 1794 in CT (did they move back?)
Died October 22, 1851 in Marcellus

George Whitfield Platt
first son of Joseph
Born November 12, 1838 in Marcellus NY
Died August 25, 1916 in Topeka KS, age 77.
Captain, NY Regiment, in Civil War (is there documentation on this? He seems to be awful young to have made captain by age 27, but it's possible.) What did he do in Topeka? Would Census information help?

George Warner Platt
first son of George Whitfield
Born November 23, 1888 in Topeka (his father was 50 years old!)
Died April 19, 1958 in Topeka. I have no information on when he returned to Topeka; he took early retirement due to a heart condition, but lasted until almost age 70. Interestingly enough, Dad was diagnosed with a heart murmur (from rheumatic fever he had as a child) at the time of WWII, but has made it to 75 so far.

Henry Edmund Platt
second son of George Warner
Born July 7, 1922 in Wichita Falls TX
Married Julia Glee Rogers on September 8, 1945

John Rogers Platt
first son of Henry Edmund Platt
Born April 17, 1948 in Detroit MI

CARMAN FAMILY HISTORY

New York and New Jersey Halsteads

Introduction

The following extracts came from a privately published book by William Leon Halstead, "The Story of the Halsteads of the United States" of which 100 copies were originally published. This material was provided by John A. Halstead. The book is available through the Higginson Book Company, 148 Washington Street, Post Office Box 778, Salem, MA 01970, Tel. (508) 745-7170. This book was published in 1938.

page 56 Chapter XII The New York and New Jersey Halsteads

Colonial New York

Cabot may have touched at the present site of New York City in 1498, but it was Hendrik Hudson, an Englishman in the service of the Dutch East India company, who explored New York Bay and the Hudson River in 1609. Dutch vessels came the next year to trade with Iroquois Indians. A stockaded trading post was built at what is now the city of Albany on the upper Hudso and a few huts were erected by the Dutch traders on Manhattan Island in 161 In June of 1624 about thirty families of Dutch colonists arrived, part of w went to Albany, one contingent to Hartford, Connecticut, and the rest remai on Manhattan Island and Long Island. Manhattan Island was bought from the Indians in 1626, a fort was built at its lower end and the village was name New Amsterdam, which was made the seat of government of New Netherlands, an grew steadily through accretions from Holland and England.

Charles II, of England, took New Netherlands away from the Dutch in 16 on claims of prior sovereignty. The name of New Amsterdam was then changed that of New York. In a surprise attack in 1673, the Dutch re-took the territory, but in the Treaty of Westminster made the following year, Hollan ceded it back to England. New York then included what is now New Jersey, Rhode Island and part of Connecticut. The settlements were practically all east of the Hudson River.

The population of New York City, now seven millions, was estimated by Dutch officials to have been one thousand in 1656, a date near the one at which the Halsteads first appeared at a nearby point.

The permanent occupation of the plains at Hempstead, in central Long Island, was made in 1644 by a group of men and their families from Stamford Connecticut. Robert Fordham and John Carman had bought the claims of the Indians to a tract of land there on December 13, 1643. To them and four others, including John Ogden, a descendaant of whom married Caleb Halstead of New Jersey in later times, was given a patent to this land at Hempstead by the province of New Nehterlands on November 16, 1644.

The first Halsteads in what is now New York State are believed to have come to Hempstead from England about 1650. At that time Hempstead was a settlement of about a hundred families. It became the principal grazing an farming community of the district.

Oyster Bay was settled soon after Hempstead and Jamaica about 1656. All JONAS (1) HALSTEAD was the immigrant ancestor of the most numerous bra of the Halstead family. He came to Hempstead when middle Long Island was a frontier. It is quite possible that he was first at Stratford, Connecticut as the historian Orcutt says that Jonas Halstead was there early.

The old Dutch and English colonial records and the first town records Hempstead, Oyster Bay and Jamaica provide all the information that is to be found about Jonas and his family. It is believed that he was born about 16 was married about 1632, that all his children were born by 1644, and that h died about 1683. Undoubtly he came to America from England, but wat member of his family he first brought there, at what time and by what means are unknown. It is probable that he was from the West Riding of Yorkshire, in north of England, the same district from which the first Halsteads in New England probably came, and to whom he may have been related. No facts have yet been found to connect him in relationship with any of the known English Halsteads or the other Halstead immigrants to America.

The first book of records of Hempstead, covering the period from its English Settlement until 1655, has been lost. The earliest record of Jonas Halstead is in the next succeeding book, where his name appears as a witnes to a land deed as of December 8, 1655. He was in Hempstead for some part o the preceding eleven years, but probably not earlier than 1647, when sixty-six citizens were given their portion of the common land holdings, in the list of which his name does not appear. Again, he was one of thiry-six citizens of Hempstead who, on July 4, 1656, addressed a joint letter to Governor Peter Stuyvesant on the subject of the town's taxes to the provinc

About 1660 Jonas removed to Oyster Bay and shortly thereafter to Jamaic He is referred to in a deed dated May 30, 1667, as, "Jonas Halsted of Stratton Island, within the county of York in America." He may have lived on "Stratton Island" (Staten Island) for a short time, but in December of the same year he was a resident of Oyster Bay. He returned to Hempstead, but his name disappears from all records after 1682, from which fact it is supposed that he died there shortly thereafter, seventy or more years of ag There is no record left either of his will or the administration of his estate.

In the town records of Oyster Bay, there is a deed executed by him on December 5, 1661, in which the property conveyed is described as:

> ... Richard Houlbrooke house or houses built by him and me and house lot & two sheres of meadow on ye North Side of ye youne and one shere of meadow at Matenacock and one right of meadow at the South foure and twenty Ackers of ye great plains, it is on ye East side of ye foot path near ye woods edgg.

There is a record at Oyster Bay as of March 8, 1666:

> These may Sertifie to all whom it may any ways conseren yt I, Jonas Halstead, Constable have made a Legall Seasure of ye two shipps which do belong to Major Daniel Gotherson for an in behalfe of Matthew Pryer for a debt which is due him from said Gotherson.

The town of Oyster Bay ordered on December 11, 1667:

> ...yt ye Constable and Overseers shall make a Levie on ye Towne for 6 pounds which is dew Jonas Holstead for ye higher (hire) of ye forte Neck.

At Jamaica, March 6, 1674:

> At a toune Meeting Jonas Holsteads and John Foster were appointed to go to Mister Pek or any other minister that may be procured to come and live amongst us as our Minister.

The town of Jamaica elected Jonas overseer on April 13, 1675:

> The toune did make choice of Samuel Smith for Constable and Jonas Holstead overseer for ye year ensuing.

Jonas Halstead and his son Timothy (2) were the overseers of the estate of Thomas Carle, the husband of Jonas' daughter Sarah (2). On May 1, 1676, Jonas made an agreement for the management of the Carle farm with James Bat which read in part:

> ... I dwo Ingeage to provid fodder for the Catell and to loock after them in in winter & to provid what firewood is nedfull for the house also I dwoe Ingeage to keep the fence in Repairs...& the said Jonas Hallstead is to pay Jeames beat forte shillings a yeare during the term of three years...and the said Jeames beat is to have for his Pains a third part of what Corn and pumkins that is produced of the land & he is to provide a third part of the sed... & the said Jonas Halstead is to provid & maintain six oxen for the term and cart and plow & all tacklin neseary...allso the widow's sonens is to join the said Jeames for the carrying on of the worke & Jeames best is to provid what bous and youchs is nedfull for the oxen & and the said Jonas Halstead is to provid one hors for Jeames use...and he is to have his dyat washing and lodging...

The remainder of the records show Jonas Halstead as one of the owners o both land and cattle in the several communities in which he lived; as the recorder of an earmark for cattle; as a member of town committees; as a juror, and as a citizen actively generally in village affairs. It would seem that he was successful, trustworthy and well respected.

The identity of Jonas' wife, when and where she was born, and when and where they were married are not known. There are no records of her at Hempstead, Oyster Bay or Jamaica. Inasmuch as both her eldest daughter, an her son Timothy's eldest daughter were named Sarah, it is to be supposed th her name was Sarah also.

The history and genealogical record of the first five generations of the Jonas (1) Halstead branch of the family that follow, limited, except in a few instances, to those who were born as Halsteads, has been prepared in part from authentic information, but much of it is conjectural. No public records were kept in that period, as there are now, of births and deaths, a the marriage records are incomplete. Many essential records otherwise have long ago disappeared. Nearly all the gravestones are gone. Few Family Bibles of the period are in existence. In consequence, it is necessary to calculate many of the dates given on the basis of probability from the fragmentary data now obtainable. Some individuals of whom there is some definate record, but no proof of parentage, have been assigned to certain families in the same way. Subsequent exploration will probably result in some revision of the tabulation.

The first date given is the year of birth, actual if known, and if not known, it is a calculated one. The second date is the year of death, determined in the same ways, and if followed by an &, it is only the last year in which the individual is known to have been alive from having been mentioned in some will, land deed or like recorded document. When a date is ommitted, there is no known means of even approximating it.

Jonas (1) Halstead had four known children, Timothy (2), Sarah (2), Joseph (2) and Martha (2).

Sarah (2) Halstead (1638-1683&); JONAS (1)), probably b. in England, m. 1658 Captain Thomas Carle, who died in 1675. In addition to John (3) Carle, of who there is a definate record, they probably had children Elizabeth (3) m. James Beat or Beats; Thomas (3); Joseph (3) and Timothy (3) born about 1670, m. before 1697 Mary Platt b. January 11, 1672, dau. of Epenetus Platt.

Joseph (2) Halstead (1642-1679& JONAS (1)) was born before the settleme of Hempstead and probably in England. He first appears in the Hempstead records as of May 31, 1660, in a list of the owners of calves, of which he six, which were being pastured with the common herd. By December 21, 1663, had evidently removed to Oyster Bay with his father, where there is a recor

About 1670 Joseph married Susanna Harcut, daughter of Richard (1) Harcut of Oyster Bay. Joseph died prior to 1680, for on March 4 of that year, his widow m. The childr were Isabel (3) (1671-); Abigail (3) (1673-); Hannah (3) (1675- m. 1692 James Townsend, s. of James and Elizabeth (Wright) Townsend; and James (3) (1677-) and another son, mentioned in his father's will, b. about 1679, whose name is unknown.

Martha (2) Halstead (1644-1710& JONAS (1)) who may possibly have been born in America, m. 1664 Jonathan Mills. Their Children were Timothy Mills Jonathan, Samuel and perhaps several others.

Timothy (2) Halstead (1633-1703& JONAS (1)) was b. in England. In 1661

eventuated is disclosed in an entry in the minutes of the Special Court of Assizes of New York Cirty, held on October 16, 1676, where five of the citizens of Hempstead were tried for rioting:

> ...for that having before with divers others plotted, confederated & combined in writing under their hands, signed by about twenty persons, they did proceed and on Monday the 16th inst., betweene the hours of one and two in the afternoon, with force & arms, at a certain place called Cow Neck or ye Great Neck, did rioutiously, routishly & unlawfully assemble themselves against the Peace of our Soveraigne Lord the King & that the said Nath. Piersall &c being then and there assemble together by force & arms did rioustously, routishly and unlawfully attack, pul down, and destroy ye housing and Goods of John Cornell, whereby hee was in Great fear and stood in danger of his life and other enormities...

Those arraigned in court pleaded not guilty, but after hearing the evidence, the jury found them guilty. The court fined one of those tried twenty shillings and required him to give security for his good behavior; another, "the principal actor", who, "drew the writing of Combination", was fined forty shillings and sent to jail for six months, and the other three were fined. On December 14, a concluding entry was made in the court minutes:

> The Hempstead men called, most doe appear. They declare to have had no ill intent; but legally to bear equal charges & are dismist paying court costs.

As Timothy (2) had a son Timothy (3), who was some eighteen years of age at the time, there is no way in which to determine definitely to which of them this record refers, but it was probably Timothy (2), although both may have been involved in the trouble.

Captain Timothy Bagley. The children were Sarah 5 (1724 1750&) m. a Penny; Laurence 5 (1725-1772&); Joseph 5 (1727 - d. in inf.); Jonas 5 (1728-1786&); a 2nd Joseph 5 (1730-1761&); Mary 5 (1731-1750&) and John 5 (1733-1750&).

RICHARD 4 HALSTEAD (1700-1785; Jos. 3) m. 1727 Esther Oldfield. He removed to Goshen, Orange Co., N.Y. and had sons Richard 5 (1728-1804&); Joseph 5 (1736-1797); Isaiah 5 (1738-1797); Benjamin 5 (1740-1801); Michael 5 (1748-1820); another son and four daughters whose names are unknown.

SAMUEL 4 HALSTEAD (1705-1776& Jos 3) probably had children Benjamin 5 (1733-1762); Thomas 5 (1735-1806); Jonas 5 (1737-1789&); Jemima 5 (1744-1773); Ezekiel 5 (1747-1800&); Joseph 5 (1751-1725&) and perhaps several daus.

EZEKIAL 4 HALSTEAD (1709-1757; Jos. 3) m. 1728 wife Mary. He had sons Joseph 5 (1729-1757&); Ezekial 5 (1738-1805); m. 1758 Abigail Theall and lived at Rye, Westchester Co., N.Y.; Micah 5 (1742-1801); Philemon 5 (1743-1818) and daus. Mary 5, Abigail 5, Charity 5 and Sarah 5.

MICHAEL 4 HALSTEAD (1715-1745; Jos. 3) left no family and was probably unmarried.

JOHN 3 HALSTEAD (1667-1705; Tim. 2). It is only conjectural that he was the s. of Tim. 2 and no records of his family have been found.

JONAS 3 HALSTEAD (1673-1726& Tim. 2) m. about 1699; removed about 1726 to Rye, Westchester Co., N.Y. He deeded land at Hempstead, probably part of his father's estate, on May 26, 1705, and made a recorded agreement with his brother Timothy 3 and John Searing on May 6, 1708. There were at leat eight children, Caleb 4 (1699-1721&) of which no further record has been found; James; 4 Abiah 4 (1702-1736&); David; 4 Job 4 (1706-Apr. 1750) of who no further record has been found; Thomas; 4 Jonas 4 (1710-1739&) of who no further record has been found and Sarah 4 (1712-1729&) m. Nov. 22, 1729, Peter Lott.

JAMES 4 HALSTEAD (1700-1770& Jonas 3) lived near Oyster Bay, L. I. and is believed to have removed to Rye, Westchester, Co., N.Y., about 1735; m. about 1722, and had children Thomas 5 (1723-Nov. 1806) m. Feb. 2, 1748-39, Phebe Bogardus; Amos 5 (1725-1760&); James 5 (1726-1786) m. 1751, 2nd. about 1763 Elizabeth Teed; a dau., whose name is unknown (1728-1728&) and Timothy 5 (1730-1786).

DAVID 4 HALSTEAD (1704-1775; Jonas 3) m. 1733 Patience Barnes, and had four sons and two daughters and perhaps other children, Stephen 5 (1737-1805); Joshua 5 (1739-1818); Samuel 5 (1744-1824) and David 5 (1750-1805). David 4 and Thomas 4 (below) were Quakers and their descendants for a number of generations were of that faith. They probably married into Quaker families.

THOMAS 4 HALSTEAD (1708-1788; Jon. 3) m. 1739 wife Charity, and had four sons, two daughters and perhaps other children, Thomas 5 (1740-1802); Jacob 5 (1743-1770); Timothy 5 (1745-1800); Joseph 5 (1747-1824); Phebe 5 m. Samuel Purdy and Charity 5 who m. Thomas Huggeford.

DAVID 3 HALSTEAD (1675-1698& Tim. 2). No record has been found of a family.

BENJAMIN 3 HALSTEAD (1677-1712&); Tim 2) m. 1703; was one of four executors of an estate at Flushing, L. I. in 1707; was a constable at Hempstead in 1708, and there are records of him at Flushing in 1710 and 1712, but none of a family.

TIMOTHY 3 HALSTEAD (1658-1735; Tim. 2), the founder of the New Jersey and part of the New York State branches, is first mentioned in the Hempstea Long Island records of February 4, 1684-5, when he entered an earmark for cattle. In March of 1688 he was living at Cow Neck, a part of Hempstead, which was his residence for many years. On October 16, 1695, he and his brother Joseph 3 were signers of an agreement by which they were deputies in the settlement of a land dispute. In 1698, with his wife and the first seven of their children, he was recorded in the census of Hempstead. He was chosen as one the town assessors on April 3, 1711, and for the second year on April 1, 1712. On April 6, 1714, he was one of those selected for, "Couneck for survairs (surveyors) of highway and fenc veuars (viewers)." At a general town meeting on April 2, 1717, he was chosen constable and collector, and to the same position again on April 1, 1718, and held the office in 1719, 1720 and 1721. On March 10, 1717-18, he was one of five citizens chosen as trustees of the town and was re-elected on April 4, 1721

In March of 1714 Timothy 3 and his sons Timothy 4, Caleb 4 and Jonah 4 were associated with fourteen others, nearly all of them from Hempstead, in the purchase of the Kikiat patent, originally granted in 1696, covering a large body of land in Orange Co., N.Y. The settlement there was first called Hempstead, sometimes Kikiat, then New Hempstead, and is now Ramapo, Rockland Co. On March 13, 1714, Timothy 3 and his wife deeded 400 acres of land there to William Barker, their son-in-law. On the same date Thomas Barker, the father of William Barker, deeded 400 acres to them.

All of Timothy's sons except John 4, went to Hempstead to live. Timothy 4 was a resident there by December 4, 1718. They and a number of their descendants continued to live there and at near-by points for more than a hundred years. Others of them settled at Elizabeth-town and Shrewsbury, N.J., and spread over that district.

Timothy 3 was living in Hempstead, L.I. as late as April 4, 1721. He probably removed to New Hempstead shortly thereafter and from thence to New Jersey. On March 4, 1721, a deed of sale was made to him and his son Caleb 4 to a tract of land described as, "lying on the south side of Elizabeth Creek", containing about four hundred acres for which the consideration was 1500 pounds. It was located on the shore of Staten Island sound near Elizabeth-town. This was the Halstead's Point Farm mentioned in Chapter VII, Part One, on which was built a heavy-timbered house, which, after being used as a residence for more than a century, was in use for business purposes as late as 1880. Timothy 3 lived there until his death, and it was in possession of Caleb 5 and Rebecca Ogden Halstead in Revolutionary times. This house is minutely described in Chapter VI, Part One.

In the register of St. John's Episcopal Church at Elizabeth, N.J.,

there are many entries from 1730 forward of christenings, marriages and burials of the descendants of Timothy 3. On companion tomb-stones in the churchyard there was inscribed:

PHIL'S HANDY SUMMARY OF HIS (AND MY) PATERNAL GENEAOLOGY

Simon Platt, tailor
Born ca. 1530 in Ware, Herfortshire, England
Died April 12, 1594 in Ware

George Platt, tailor
Born May 13, 1582 in Ware (this date seems too late, but possible)
Died April 20, 1609

Richard Platt (the immigrant)
born May 6, 1604 in Ware
emigrated to New Haven, CT, 1638; moved to Milford CT shortly thereafter.
Died February 13, 1684 or 1686 in Milford, CT
Married Mary Wood (10/26/97: I have found Mary Wood's parents on the Web.)

Issac Platt
second son of Richard I
born April 10, 1633 in Ware
Died July 31, 1691 in Huntingdon, Long Island NY

John Platt
second son of Issac
Born June 29, 1669 in Huntingdon
Died ca. 1731

John Platt
first son of John
Born in Huntington, n.d. - abt 1705-1710 should do it
Died Smithtown, Long Island, n.d.

Eliphalet Platt
third son of John
Born July 12, 1733 in Huntington
Died July 3, 1795 in Pleasant Valley NY

Henry Platt
first son of Eliphalet b. 1760 Pleasant Valley
d. 10/1829 Marcellus

Born 1760 in Pleasant Valley NY
Died October 2, 1829 in Marcellus, NY

Joseph Platt
second son of Henry
Born 1794 in CT (did they move back?)
Died October 22, 1851 in Marcellus

George Whitfield Platt
first son of Joseph
Born November 12, 1838 in Marcellus NY
Died August 25, 1916 in Topeka KS, age 77.
Captain, NY Regiment, in Civil War (is there documentation on this? He seems to be awful young to have made captain by age 27, but it's possible.) What did he do in Topeka? Would Census information help?

George Warner Platt
first son of George Whitfield
Born November 23, 1888 in Topeka (his father was 50 years old!)
Died April 19, 1958 in Topeka. I have no information on when he returned to Topeka; he took early retirement due to a heart condition, but lasted until almost age 70. Interestingly enough, Dad was diagnosed with a heart murmur (from rheumatic fever he had as a child) at the time of WWII, but has made it to 75 so far.

Henry Edmund Platt
second son of George Warner
Born July 7, 1922 in Wichita Falls TX
Married Julia Glee Rogers on September 8, 1945

John Rogers Platt
first son of Henry Edmund Platt
Born April 17, 1948 in Detroit MI
still alive and kicking

Richard died 12-Jan-1855, Lexington, IL., buried: Pleasant Hill, Lexington, IL. Richard moved out from OH to Illinois with atleast 2 sons and 2 nephews. Richard died less than four years after moving and is buried in Pleasant Hill Cem. in McLean CO. IL. Apparently Richard was married to a Charity Wiggins 23 months before he married Margaret. Her sisters Sarah and Mary Wiggins died soon after their marriages. It is possible Charity died in child birth.

Charity: Apparently Charity died young since Richard remarried within 2 years.

3/96 Letter from Elsie Savell, Crane Researcher

Excerpts from "CYCLOPEDIA OF NEW JERSEY BIOGRAPHY"
(1923, American Historical Society)

JASPER CRANE, FOUNDER OF AN IMPORTANT FAMILY

Jasper Crane, the first of his name so far as we know to set foot in the new world, was born probably about 1605, somewhere near Bradley Plain, Hampshire, England, died in Newark, New Jersey, in 1681. His aunt was Margaret Crane who married Samuel Huntington, whose child, Jasper's cousin, Margaret Huntington, married, May 2, 1592, John, son of Edward and Margaret (Wilson) Ogden, and whose daughter, Elizabeth Huntington, Margaret's sister, married Richard Ogden, the brother of John Ogden, who married Margaret, and the father of John Ogden, the emigrant to Southhampton and Elizabethtown. Jasper Crane's own daughter, Hannah, married Thomas, son of Margaret and Simon Huntington, a brother of Samuel and Margaret (Crane) Huntington.

June 4, 1639, Jasper Crane, who was one of the original settlers of the New Haven Colony, was present at the meeting held at Mr. Newman's barn, and signed the first agreement of all the free planters. He took the oath of fidelity at the organization of the government, together with Campfield, Pennington, Governor Eaton, and others; and in 1644 he was "freed from watching and trayning in his own person because of his weakness, but to find some one for his turn." With Robert Treat he was a member of the general court, and for many years he was a magistrate. In 1651 he was interested in a bog ore furnace at East Haven; and in 1652 he removed to Branford, where he was elected a magistrate in 1658, having held the office of deputy for some years previous to that date.

A tradition with regard to Jasper is that he came to Massachusetts Bay in the ship "Arabella," with Governor Winthrop, etc. etc. etc. (This biography is same wording as the Ellery B. Bicknell's Genealogy of the Crane Family below)

From "DIRECTORY OF THE ANCESTRAL HEADS OF NEW ENGLAND FAMILIES (1620-1700)" compiled by Frank R. Holmes, publ. by Genealogical Publishing Co., 1974

The name dates back to the Hundred Rolls in the 13th century, when on the records William de Crane's name appears in 1272. The name is derived from town of Crannes, in Maine, a province in northern France; its root is from the Gaelic Cran, meaning water.

•CRANE, BENJAMIN, b. Eng., 1630, was at Medfireld, Mass., 1649; removed to Wethersfield, Conn., 1655; may have lived later in life at Taunton, Mass. •CRANE, HENRY, tanner and currier, b. Eng., 1635, settled at Dorchester, Mass., 1658, and in Milton, Mass., 1667. •CRANE, HENRY, ironmaker, brother of Benjamin, b. Eng. 1621; settled at Wethersfield, Conn., 1655; was at Guilford, Conn., 1664, one of the first planters of what is now Clinton, Conn. •CRANE, JASPER, came to New Haven, Conn., 1639, removed to Branford, Conn., 1668. •CRANE, JONATHAN, married at Norwich, Conn., 1680.

From "THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY COMPANY AND ITS PREDECESSORS"
by Frances Rose-Troup, Grafton Press, 1930

ROBERT CRANE, of St. Giles, Cripplegate, grocer. Son of Robert Crane, of Great Coggeshall, Essex, grocer, and brother of Margaret Crane, wife of Ezekiel Rogers, therefore uncle of Mary Rogers, who married Rev. William Hubbard, the historian. Robert Crane married Mary, daughter of Samuel Aldersey. He was present 13 May 1629. His will was proved 21 September 1646 [P.C.C. 131 Twisse (Reg. 41, 177.)] H. 25-li; Hub. 50-li (H=Haven's entries in Massachusetts Records omitted in Shurtleff. 30 Mar 1629) (Hub.=Hubbard, History of New England, p. 123)

SAMUEL ALDERSEY, of Allhallows, Lombard St., haberdasher. Son of John Aldersey of Aldersey, Cheshire, by Anne, sister of Sir Thomas Lowe, Alderman of London. He married first, Mary, dau. Philip Van Oyrle of Nornberg and Antwerp; second, Margaret, dau. Thomas Offspring and sister of Rev. Charles Offspring of St. Antholins, London, widow of William Kedward (she remarried Sir John Melton). Aldersey was a prominent Puritan who contributed to the Impropriations Fund in 1626 and was probably an active worker for St. Antholin's Feoffees as his brother-in-law, Charles Offspring, was rector of that Church. He was an early Adventurer and took active part in the Company's work.

By the marriages of his sisters and of his children he was closely connected with a number of persons interested in the settlement of New England. His sister Elizabeth married 1st, William Pitchford and 2nd Sir Thomas Coventry, the Lord Keeper. Allice married Thomas Moulson and her son Sir Thomas was the husband of Anne Ratcliffe, the patron saint of Radcliffe College. Her daughter Rebecca married Nicholas Raynton, famous as a London Puritan. Another sister of Samuel married Francis Webbe; Mary married Sir Thomas Knatchbull and Dorothy, as her second husband married Sir Henry Capel. Still another sister seems to have married Henry Parkhurst as his son, Sir Robert, mentions his aunt Aldersey and nearly all the married Aldersey sisters in his will in 1636. As William Spurstowe married Sir Robert's sister he was in a way connected with Alderey, as were also the Byfields.

Aldersey had one son, John and four daughters; Mary married Robert Crane of St. Giles, Cripplegate (see below), Anne married Robert Eyre of Salisbury, son of Robert Eyre one of the Feoffees for Impropriations; Elizabeth married Thomas Lee of Downhall; Margaret married Rev. Thomas Bletchingdon, Canon of Christ Church Canterbury.

Aldersey's will was proved 13 July 1633 (P.C.C. 61 Russel), by Robert Crane and his son John Aldersey. By it he left L20 to Mr. Davenport, the minister; he had witnessed this minister's signing of the Articles in 1628.

Page 142 JOHN GLOVER OR JOSSE GLOVER. In Felt's list John Glover occurs and in Haven's Joas occurs. Possibly both were subscribers. Josse was the eldest son of Roger Glover and John, a younger son of the same, was a "Petter" Barrister of Lincoln's Inn and married Jane, daughter of Francis Dorrington; there was also a John Glover, of London, merchant. For Josse see usual sources. John: F. 50-li; FF. 25-li; Joas: H. 25-li Page 162 THE FAMILIES GROUP. By marriage were related: Aldersey, Thomas Andrewes, Burnell, Crane, Crowther, Flyer, Foxcroft, Glover, J: Anson, Manisty, Oldfield, Spurstowe, Webbe, Winch, Whichcote, James Young. To these may be added others who were either emigrants or closely associated with the Company: Byfield, the Lord keeper Coventry, Eyre, Hubbard, Moulson, Offspring, Parkhurst, Ratcliffe, Rogers, Wyn. Perhaps there was a cousinship between Harwood, son of Elizabeth Greenham and Cradock, son of Dorothy Greenham.

From "ENGLISH ORIGINS OF AMERICAN COLONISTS"
by NYGBR 1991

20 May 1686, I Nathaniel Mickelthwaite the elder of London, Merchant, give unto my wife Joanna L1250; to my son Nathaniel L1250, including the lease of the messuage in Coleman Street wherein I now dwell, or if he die I give the said messuage to my son Jonathan, or in default to my friends Mr Thomas Cubben and Joseph Sibley and my brother in law Mr. Francis Crane in trust for my daughter Sarah Benson, wife of Joseph Benson. To my son Jonathan L1100 over and above what I have given with him in placing him apprentice to Mr Archer, my messuage in Pye Ally in Fanchurch Street to be reckoned part of the same. My sisters Anne Knight alias Whiteman of New England, Elizabeth Tue alias Coleman (elsewhere "Cole") of London, widow, and Hester Crane, wife of the said Francis Crane. My nephew William Tutty of Cheshunt, co. Hertford, baker. Nathaniel Benson my grandson, son of my daughter Sarah Benson....

from "ROCKAWAY RECORDS OF MORRIS CO., NJ"
by Joseph Percy Crayon 1902

Gen. (maybe gentleman?) Josiah Crane, whose son Jasper emigrated with his family from London to America at an early date, and was one of the founders of Newark, NJ, in 1666, was related to William Crane, who married, Margaret, daughter and co-heir of Sir Andrew Butler, Knight. There were several branches of the Crane family, the Cheshire and Chilton branches, became most noted and numerous, who settled in the several counties of England, and who were originally Franks, freemen, and related to, and holding high positions under the long line of Pharamond Kings. The motto of the Cheshire branch was Qui pascet corvus non oblivis citus grus (He that feeds the crows will not forget the Crane.)

The home lot that fell to Jasper Crane at Newark was directly north of the Essex county court house, and is now the site of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The meeting house was nearby and surrounded by a palisade, and in the cupola a guard of settlers kept watch for hostile Indians, while the worship was in progress.

Excerpts from "THE NEW HAVEN COLONY"

by Isabell MacBeath Calder, published by Yale Univ. Press in 1934

In the seventeenth century Coleman Street was "a faire and large street, on both sides builded with diuerse faire houses." John Davenport was the son of Henry and Winifred (Barneby) Davenport. He had been baptized by Richard Eaton, vicar of Holy Trinity Church, Coventry on Apr 9 1597. In 1622 he became a member of the Virginia Co. of London. In 1624 he was elected as Vicar of St. Stephens on Coleman St. in London, but before he could begin his duties, he was charged with Puritanism by King James I, which he denied. About 1630 Theophilus Eaton (son of Richard Eaton) took over the house vacated by Sir Richard Saltonstall in Swanne Alley (off Coleman St.) He had served as Deputy Gov. of the Eastland Co. at Elbing. The group received a grant of territory from the Council for New England and as "the Gov. and Co. of the Mass. Bay in New England" on March 4 1629 received a charter from the crown.

Mathew Cradock was appointed the first governor of the company. Sir Richard Saltonstall, Samuel Aldersey, Theophilus Eaton and George Foxcroft represented St. Stephens, Coleman St., in the first court of assistants, and John Davenport, Robert CRANE, Owen Rowe, William Spurstow, Edmund White, all living in Coleman St., and possibly Francis Bright of Swanne Alley represented the parish among the commonality.

In Nov. of 1633, Davenport fled to Amsterdam to escape increasing disapproval of the Crown where the group organized their move to the New World. The group included: John and Elizabeth Davenport (left infant son in care of noble lady); Theophilus Eaton, Anne Eaton, dau. of George Lloyd, Bishop of Chester, and widow of Thomas Yale, the second wife of Theophilus Eaton; old Mrs. Eaton, his mother; Samuel and Nathaniel Eaton, his brothers; Mary Eaton, the dau. of his first wife; Samuel, Theophilus and Hannah, the children of his second wife; Anne, David and Thomas Yale, the children of Anne Eaton by her former marriage; Edward Hopkins, who on Sep. 5, 1631 had married Anne Yale at St. Antholin's in London; and Richard Malbon, a kinsman of Theophilus Eaton. Also many inhabitants of the parish of St. Stephen, Coleman St. Nathaniel Rowe (son of Own Rowe who intended to follow); William Andrews, Henry Browning, James Clark, Jasper CRANE, Jeremy Dixon, Nicholas Elsey, Francis Hall, Robert Hill, William Ives, Geo. Smith, George Ward and Lawrence Ward.

The group chartered the "Hector" of London. On June 26, 1637, John Winthrop recorded the arrival of the group from London at Boston.

In Aug. of 1637, Eaton and several others traveled south to view the area around the Long Island Sound. They left members of their party there over the winter to retain possession. Many from the Bay Colony chose to leave for New Haven with Eaton and Davenport: Richard Hull, William Tuttle and William Wilkes of Boston; Anne Higginson and her family, Jarvis Boykin, John Chapman, John Charles, Timothy Ford, Thomas James, Benjamin Ling, John Mosse and Richard Perry of Charlestown; John Benham, Benjamin Fenn, Thomas Jeffrey, Thomas Kimberly, William Preston, Thomas Sandford, Thomas Trowbridge and Zachariah Whitman of Dorchester; John Astwood of Stanstead Abbey, Hertfordshire and Roxbury; Thomas Baker, John Burwell, Jasper Gunn, John Hall, John Peacock, William Potter, Edward Riggs, Thomas Uffot and Joanna and Jacob Sheaffe of Roxbury; Mark Pierce of Newtown; and Nathaniel Turner of Lynn.

Another company headed by Peter Pruden was a notable addition to the group. Perhaps the son of Thomas Prudden of King's Walden, Hertfordshire and a kinsman of William Thomas of Caerleon, Monmouthshire, Prudden was the minister of the Providence Island Company. In 1637 with fifteen Hertfordshire families - among them Edmund Tapp of Bennington, Hertfordshire, James Prudden, William Fowler, Thomas and Hanah Buckingham, Thomas Welsh, Richard Platt, Henry Stonehill and William East - he left England for Massachusetts and went with Davenport's group to Connecticut in March of 1638.

Staying behind in Massachusetts was Nathaniel Eaton, Nathaniel Rowe, Edward and Anne (Yale) Hopkins and John Cotton. Eaton became the "cruel" master of a new college in Newtown. Later he and Anne migrated to Hartford, CT.

In 1641 a 3-year mortgage was given to George Fenwick of Saybrook, John Haynes, Samuel Wyllys and Edward Hopkins of Connecticut and Theophilus Eaton, Stephen Goodyear and Thomas Gregson of New Haven for much of Long Island.

IRONWORKS IN NEW HAVEN & SOUTHOLD

Long interested in the production of bog iron in New England, John Winthrop, Jr. (metallurgist & physician) visited the New Haven Colony on a prospecting tour in the spring of 1655. Discovering a convenient place for an ironworks and a furnace between New Haven and Branford, he succeeded in interesting John Davenport, Theophilus Eaton and Stephen Goodyear of New Haven and Jasper CRANE of Branford in the project. On February 13, 1656, John Winthrop, Jr., Stephen Goodyear, undertakers of New Haven with John Cooper as their agent, and undertakers of Branford with Jasper CRANE as their agent, organized an ironworks company. New Haven and Branford granted the undertakers permission to procure wood, water, ironstone, ore, shells for lime, and other neccessaries within their limits, five-eighths from New Haven and three-eighths from Branford. New Haven had long tried to induce John Winthrop, Jr. to settled there. In order to direct the ironworks from a nearby location, Winthrop bought the Malbon house and paid for it in "goats". By spring of 1657 the ironworks were in operation, but Winthrop left to become Governor of the Connecticut colony. Interest in the ironworks lagged. Winthrop leased his interest in the undertaking to Thomas Clarke and William Paine of Boston.

After more than six years of endeavor, the founder of the New Haven Colony was able to inform Winthrop that they were finally ready to manufacture pots. The colony suffered more than it gained from the enterprise, however, for not only were the neighboring lands, highways and fences injured by the dam at the works, but a group of turbulent, disorderly, non-assimilable workers was introduced into the colony and remained there long after the jurisdiction of New Haven had come to an end.

THE PHANTOM SHIP OF NEW HAVEN HARBOR

More daring than the ironworks was the attempt to build transatlantic vessels on Long Island Sound. As early as 1644 Theophilus Eaton, Stephen Goodyear, Richard Malbon, Thomas Gregston and perhaps other merchants at New Haven entrusted the construction of an ocean-going vessel to John Wakeman, Joshua Atwater, Jasper CRANE and Richard Miles. Though ill built and very "walt-side," in due course the ship was completed. Entrusted with a cargo of wheat, peas, hides, beaver and peltry and manuscript writings of John Davenport at New Haven and Thomas Hooker at Hartford, about the middle of January, 1646, the vessel ploughed its way through three miles of ice in New Haven harbor and tackled the stormy Atlantic. On board were Thomas Gregson, Nathaniel Turner, George Lamberton, the wife of Stephen Goodyear, and Francis Austin. After many months, a mirage of the ship was said to have appeared over the harbor at New Haven, but the vessel itself neither reached its destination nor returned to its port of departure. Despite this initial setback, on October 7, 1646, a second vessel was about to be launched at New Haven; in the summer of 1648 a third vessel was under construction; and in the spring of 1661 Charles Glover laid a fifty-foot keel at Southold.

From REMINISCENCES OF MONTCLAIR

by Peter Doremus

Jasper Crane, whose name heads the list of the first twenty-three Colonists from Branford, Conn., emigrated from England and is named as one of the New Haven Colony, June 4th, 1639. He is mentioned as one of the most influential and active men in the new Newark Colony. His name is the first of the list of signatures for the original church in Newark dated January 20th, 1667. This church building, in size thirty-six feet by thirty-six feet, was located on the west side of Broad Street, south of Market Street, on a six-acre lot set apart by the Colony for a church and burying ground. This church building of frame was superseded about 1708 by a much larger one of stone with steeple and bell. The present church edifice, the First Presbyterian Church of Newark, locate nearly opposite the original buildings, was a bold undertaking for those early days, but was carried through with heroic energy at great personal sacrifice, a building of such proportions and architectural taste that it is at this day an ornament to the city of Newark. It was dedicated under the pastorate of Dr. MacWhorter, January 1st, 1791.

Jasper Crane died in 1681. His will, dated 1678, mentioned his children John, Azariah, Jasper and Hannah Huntington. He bequeathed to his son John a silver bowl, which afterward was inherited by his brother Azariah, who gave it to the First Church of Newark and which is still in use in this old church as a baptismal font. Azariah Crane, son of Jasper, married Mary, daughter of Robert Treat, and is later mentioned as living at his home place at the Mountain (that is, now Montclair) in 1715. He was interested and active in town and church development; a deacon in the Newark church till his death. A deed conveying land to his son Azariah, Jr., dated "in the 26th year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord George the Second by the Grace of God," may be seen hanging in the public library of this town. He, with his brother Jasper were evidently the first white settlers at the foot of the Mountain. He died November 5th, 1730, in his eighty-third year. His children were Hannah, Mariah, Nathaniel, Azariah, Jr., Robert, Jane, Mary and John. Historic records state that Nathaniel, oldest son of Azariah, was born in 1680 and settled near a spring at the foot of the Mountain. The old house, about which I played in childhood, was located on the Orange Road near to the present Myrtle Avenue, about two hundred feet west from the road. It was a two-story house with double pitched roof, large hall in the center with rooms each side. At the rear of the house stood a small building occupied in the early days by slaves and by their descendants as family servants through several generations. At the south end of the house stood the cut stone milk house built over the spring mentioned above. On the shelves of this cool milk room, I remember seeing the large pans of milk and rolls of new-made butter. The clear stream flowing from this spring was one of the heads of the brook now running across Church Street and Bloomfield Avenue near Park Street. The last occupant in the family line of the old Crane homestead was Major Nathaniel Crane, who died childless. He was the fourth descendant from Nathaniel, son of Azariah. The house was remodeled several times by successive owners after it passed from the Crane family. In later years it was known as the Frost house, Mr. Frost having owned and occupied it for a number of years. It was taken down about 1900 to give place for new improvements, with but little knowledge that it probably was the first house building in Montclair.

Excerpts from THE CRANE FAMILY OF MONTCLAIR
by G. Vance Moser, Jr.

The origins of Jasper Crane and his wife, Alice, are not certainly known. In fact, there are no clues at all for Alice except that she was the wife of Jasper, and therefore of the same geographical area. With respect to Jasper there is a tradition that he came from London or vicinity. Amos Crane's Trigonometry Book, now in the possession of the Montclair Historical Society, includes a handwritten page of the male descendants of Jasper and repeats the phrase that Jasper came from London in 1637-8. Ellery B. Crane, the Crane family genealogist of the late 19th century, added that Jasper may have been the brother of John Crane who was recorded in Boston by January 1637. As an aside there has also been speculation that Stephen Crane of Elizabeth was a son of Jasper, since both were in New Jersey and they used some common family names. There is no supporting evidence to any of the above, except to say that Jasper, as a man of affairs, had many normal business contacts in London.

What we do know suggests that Jasper's origins may be found in Hampshire County, England. The Ogden Family in America by William Ogden Wheeler, published in 1906, brings to light the marriage of Samuel Huntington and Margaret Crane. Their daughters, Margaret and Elizabeth, married John Ogden of Bradley Plain, Hampshire and Richard Ogden of Wiltshire. John Ogden was the progenitor of the Elizabeth, N.J. Ogdens and his cousin Richard the progenitor of the Fairfield, Connecticut and southern New Jersey Ogdens. Margaret Crane, wife of Samuel Huntington, was according to Wheeler, the Aunt of Jasper Crane and he quotes an unreferenced document as follows: "Margaret Crane's nephew Jasper Crane, emigrated to Newark, NJ and his daughter Hannah married Thomas Huntington, son of Simon, who emigrated to Massachusetts, but died on the passage from England to Boston in 16333." Wheeler does reference the Berry Visitation of Hants, 1634 and a New York genealogist, Gustave Anjou, as confirmation of the Ogden data from Hampshire. With respect to the quote, we know that Jasper did not emigrate directly to Newark and was certainly in Connecticut long enough for his relations to be aware of his standing in New Haven. It is true about the marriage of Hannah and Thomas Huntington the nephew of Samuel and Margaret Crane Huntington. It may also be significant that the records of Hampshire contain old Crane references; particularly to a 14th century Sheriff named Hugo de Crane. Unfortunately there were enough Cranes spread around England in Jasper's day to make this lead inconclusive.

The first factual item we have concerning Jasper Crane is his signature on the compact founding the Colony of New Haven signed June 4, 1639 in the barn of a Mr. Newman. Even though New Haven was founded by Puritans from the congregation of Rev. Davenport of London this does not mean that Jasper was associated with them previously or had emigrated with them. However, Jasper is said to have been the steward of the Rev. John Davenport's property in 1639.

We have considerable record of Jasper's public life which shows him to be a well respected leader of the community in which he lived. The record reads as follows:

•1653 -- represented Branford at the General Court in New Haven •1658 -- elected a Magistrate of the New Haven Colony and served for 5 years. •1664-5 -- chosen Justice of the County Court at New Haven. Served as a Magistrate to the Connecticut Colony from New Haven. •1665-7 -- continued as assistant or Magistrate for the Connecticut Colony. •1668-9 -- Elected with Robert Treat as first Magistrates of Newark. •1668-70 -- represented Newark in the New Jersey General Assembly •1673 -- chosen a Magistrate under the short resumption of Dutch rule •1675 -- again chosen as a Deputy to the Assembly and a Magistrate in Newark

Jasper Crane's personal and private life is as obscure as his public life is open. Likely he was a sober, industrious and devout Puritan, typical of his day. We can have some assurance of his strong religious beliefs as religious control of political affairs was a part of the Newark colonists desire to break away form the Connecticut Colony.

Jasper was a surveyor and a merchant or trader. He and a Mr. Myles were responsible for the layout of New Haven. In March 1641 he was granted 100 acres of land in the East Meadow, and in 1643 his tax valuation was 480 pounds, a comfortable sum for those days. In 1644 we find he was excused from "watching and trayning" due to weakness, but he was required to furnish a substitute. 1644-5 he was granted 16 acres of upland in East Haven where he removed. In 1651 he was known to have an interest in a bog furnace in East Haven. Jasper sold the house and land in East Haven September 7, 1652 and moved to Branford where he joined with about 20 families from Southhampton, Long Island under the leadership of Rev. Pierson, and a group of families from Wethersfield led by Samuel Swaine. Both groups had come to the area to escape the more liberal religious policy of the Connecticut Colony. When New Haven was united with Connecticut in 1662 many leaders were dismayed that their pure government by the church would be corrupted. Through the leadership of Robert Treat and some Elizabethtown settlers, many who had come from Southampton, Long Island, a site was found for a new settlement. In the Spring of 1666, 41 families, led by Robert Treat took up the area now known as Newark. Included in this group was Azariah Crane, son of Jasper. Jasper Crane, Rev. Pierson, Samuel Swaine and 20 more families followed the next Spring. A total of 64 families in all. The settlement was first named New Milford, but soon changed to Newark in honor of Rev. Pierson's former home in England.

In Newark, besides his public duties, Jasper was a merchant, and had obtained permission to make and sell spirits in 1673. At the drawing of home lots, February 6, 1667, Jasper was assigned lot #49, located near the present Court House. May 26, 1673 he drew lot #10 of 100 acres. August 25, 1675 Jasper received 168 acres in 13 parcels including 20 acres at the head of Second River which I believe is Toney's Brook.

Jasper made his will dated October 1, 1678, and died in 1681. He may have been buried in the "old Burial Ground" of Newark, which was taken over for business use in 1888, however on Dr. Condit's list of 1847 there was no record of his stone or marker. Nothing is known of his wife Alice's history. They had seven children.

From "THE GENEALOGY OF THE CRANE FAMILY"
by Ellery Bicknell Crane, 1900

JASPER CRANE OF NEW HAVEN, CONN., ALSO, NEWARK, NJ

JASPER CRANE was one of the original settlers of the New Haven Colony, June 4, 1639, and signed the first agreement at a general meeting of all the free planters held in Mr. Newman's barn. He took the oath of fidelity at the organization of the government, with Campfield, Pennington, Gov. Eaton and others. In 1644 he was "freed from watching and trayning in his own person because of his weakness, but to find one for his turn." Was a member (with Treat) of the General Court, and many years a magistrate. Was interested in a bog-ore furnace at East Haven in 1651. He removed to Branford in 1652. He was elected a magistrate in 1658, and held the office of deputy for some years previous to that date.

In a note-book kept by Thomas Lechford, Esq., a lawyer in Boston, Massachusetts Bay, from June 27, 1638, to July 29, 1641, we find the following: "Samuel Searle of Quinapeage Planter in behalfe of Jasper Crane of the same, Agent or Attorney for Mr. Roe Citizen of London Demiseth unto Henry Dawson and John Search of the Same one house and house lott and three acres of land lying in Boston wherein William Herricke now dwelleth from 29 Sept. next for five years four pounds ten shillings rent half yearly, to fence to the value four pounds ten shillings, to repaire 21-6-1640."

This transaction, showing his connection with a gentleman of London, England, would lead one to think that he certainly was known there, and might have lived there. Whether or not the above record furnished the foundation for the tradition that he came from London to America, we do not know. But such a tradition has been cherished by some of his descendants. Extensive research among the record offices in London has thus far failed however of finding any trace of him there. It is also said that he came over from England with Winthrop in the ship Arabella.

But the date of Jasper Crane's birth, or the place in which he was born, have not been fixed. Whether he came from parents occupying high or middle stations in life can as yet only be determined by the records revealed to us. He assuredly was one of the staunch and active men among the first settlers of the New Haven Colony as well as one of the fathers of the new settlement in New Jersey. He, with Capt. Robert Treat, seemed to have a large share of the weight of responsibility of that young colony upon their shoulders, and its success at heart. Mr. Crane did not go, it is said, with the first company to "Milford," as the first settlement at Newark, NJ, was called, but signed, with twenty-two others, the first contract in 1665. Jan. 20, 1667, he headed the list of signers and church members of the first Church at Newark, and became one of the most influential and active men of the new colony. Jasper Crane and Robert Treat were the first magistrates in Newark. It is said that Mr. Crane was dissatisfied at the New Haven Colony becoming united with the Connecticut Colony; he preferred to have the New Haven Colony remain separate.

He was a surveyor and merchant, as well as a magistrate, and with Mr. Myles laid out the most of the New Haven town plot, located grants, established division lines, and settled disputed titles. It is said that he was steward of Rev. John Davenport's property in 1639. In March, 1641, he received a grant of 100 acres of land in the East Meadow. He was one of the New Haven Company concerned in the settlement on the Delaware River in 1642, who were so roughly handled by the Dutch. In 1643 his estate was voted at L480, with three persons in his family, -- self, wife and son John. In 1644-45 he received a grant of 16 acres of upland, situated in East Haven, upon which he built a house, in which his son Joseph was born. While residing at this place he was in trade as a merchant, but not being satisfied with the location he sold this place Sept. 7, 1652, and became one of the first planters of Branford, Conn., a new settlement then just being instituted by families from Wethersfield, Conn., under the leadership of Mr. Swayne, and a few from Southampton, L.I.

Jasper Crane, Esq., and Mr. Wm. Swayne were the first deputies to the General Court of Electors from Branford in May, 1653, Mr. Crane being returned during the four succeeding years. In May, 1658, he was chosen one of four magistrates for the New Haven Colony and held the office by appointment until 1663; also one of the magistrates called together by the Governor, at Hartford, in 1665-67. In the union of the Colonies he was chosen one of the assistants, was also Trustee of County Court, New Haven, 1644. His house lot in New Haven was located on what is now Elm Street, at the corner of Orange Street, the same now occupied by the Church of St. Thomas.

The first Church of Newark was founded in 1667, and a building erected, about 1714 or 1716, a second meeting-house was built, and the third erected about 1787 to 1791. The people of Orange, Bloomfield and Montclair communed with the Newark Church until about 1716. In fact, for considerably more than a hundred years after the founding of Newark the crest of the first mountain was the western boundary of the town, and until the year 1806 the town of Newark was divided into three wards: Newark Ward, Orange Ward, and Bloomfield Ward. That year Orange became a separate town, and six years later Bloomfield Ward became the town of Bloomfield. This part of Newark took in the territory from the Passaic on the east to the crest of the first mountain on the west, and as this section was so thoroughly occupied by the descendants of Jasper Crane it was early called Cranetown.

Jasper Crane, Sr. was one of the purchasers of the "Kingsland Farms," an immense estate near Newark, now known as Belleville.

The exact date that Jasper senior took his leave of Branford has not been definitely fixed. In the spring of 1666, the people of Branford, becoming dissatisfied about the union of the New Haven and Connecticut Colonies, and particularly on account of granting the right of suffrage to the inhabitants not members of the church, resolved at once to remove to New Jersey, as agents, who had been sent thither, came back bringing favorable reports of the new country. In October, after adopting a code of laws for their government, Mr. Pierson with a portion of his congregation left Branford for their future home, Newark, NJ. Jasper senior although one of the original twenty-three who signed the first contract in 1665, still was active in public affairs in Branford, holding the office of assistant magistrate in 1666 and 1667. But in Jan. 30, 1667, he headed the list of signers to a new covenant and disposing of his property at Branford that year took up his permanent home at Newark and became very prominent in all transactions of the town, especially during the first fourteen years of its growth and development. He was the first president of the town court, and first on the list of deputies to the General Assembly of New Jersey for several years. At the drawing of Home Lots, Feb. 6, 1667, Lot 49 fell to the senior Jasper Crane, No. 40 to Deliverance Crane, and No. 62 to John Crane, they being his two eldest sons.

At a town meeting of Newark, held January, 1668, Jasper Crane, with Robert Treat, were chosen magistrates for the year ensuing, and also deputies or burgesses for the General Assembly for the same year. This Robert Treat was the first recorder or town clerk for Newark, and was exceedingly prominent in all public matters while he remained in the settlement. But in 1671 he returned to Connecticut, where he was held in high esteem, and for several years was Governor of that Colony, proving a faithful and conscientious worker for the interest of the inhabitants under his charge. From January, 1668, until his death, Jasper Crane senior was given a prominent part to perform in the settlement of Newark. May 20, 1668, he as one of a committee signed an agreement fixing the dividing line between Newark Town and Elizabeth Town. July 28, 1669, he with Robert Treat was chosen by the town to take first opportunity "to go to 'York' to advise with Col. Lovelace concerning our standing. Whether we are designed to be a part of the Duke's Colony or not, and about the Neck, and liberty of purchasing lands up the river, that the Town would petition for." Re-elected magistrate January, 1669, "and Deputy to the General Assembly if there shall be any." He with Robert Treat were chosen to be moderators of town meetings for the year ensuing. Jan. 2, 1670, again chosen magistrate and deputy, serving in latter capacity annually until 1674, and at the town meeting Feb. 20, it was voted that the governor be requested to confirm Jasper Crane and Robert Treat magistrates or justices of the peace. The same honors were conferred in 1671, and in addition it was voted Jan. 22, 1671, that "every man should bring his half bushel to Henry Lyon & Joseph Waters and have it tried and sealed when made fit with Mr. Crane's, which for the present is the standard." Mr. Crane was also one of a committee to see to burning the woods for a year. May 13, 1672, Mr. Crane and Lieut. Swain were chosen representatives for the town to consult with other representatives of the country to order matters for the safety for the country. June 17, 1672, Mr. Crane was again chosen magistrate, and also chosen "President of the Quarterly Court to be held in Newark to begin September next." He was also given "liberty to sell liquors in the town till the country order alter it."

At a town meeting July 1, 1673, Mr. Crane was chosen to serve on a committee, with Mr. Bond, Mr. Swain, Mr. Kitchell and Mr. Lyon, to consider with messengers from other towns about sending a petition to the Lords Proprietors in England for the removal of grievances; and July 5th the town agreed to pay for sending the messenger to England, as the above committee had agreed with Mr. Delevall about money to cover that expense.

August 4th the town chose Mr. Crane, Mr. Bond, Lieut. Swain and Sergeant John Ward deputies to treat with the generals about having a privileged county between the two rivers Passaic and Araritine. August 12 again chosen magistrate; September 6th, on committee to try and secure the "Neck" to add to the possessions of Newark; and September 16th instructed by the town to "treat with the generals, and, if they can, to buy it." It would seem the committee were successful, for October 25th Mr. Crane, Mr. Molyns and Mr. Hopkins were chosen to look after the confirmation of the purchase of the Neck and sue for further easement in respect to pay. November 17th Capt. Swain and Mr. Crane were chosen to continue the trade for the Neck. The following year (June 29, 1674) the town voted to have Mr. Crane and Mr. Pierson, Jr., carry the petition and present it to the Governor and Council at North Orange to "obtain confirmation of their bought and paid for lands." August 10, 1674, was again chosen magistrate. Mr. Crane was now becoming quite advanced in years, and the important and exacting services required of him by the town must have proved a heavy tax upon his strength, for he now dropped out of political office, while his sons, John, Azariah and Jasper, Jr. began to work in. Feb. 19, 1678-9, it having been discovered that many of the settlers had taken up lands contrary to a town agreement, Mr. Crane stated at a town meeting that he would lay down all lands so taken if others would, and March 10th following he was chosen, with Robert Dalglesh and Jasper Crane, Jr., to lay out Samuel Potter's lot again. This entry, so far as the public records of Newark shows, closes the public life of the senior Jasper Crane.

If we may judge from the entries upon the Newark Town Records we should say that, next to Robert Treat, Jasper Crane was the most prominent figure in the early settlement of that town. After Treat returned to Connecticut, Jasper Crane's name came first in the filling by popular vote the highest and most responsible positions of public trust in the settlement. That he held the confidence of the people is clearly manifested by their returning him annually for so many years, and until the infirmities of age unfitted him for further public service. But the family name and traits of character were appreciated, for no sooner than the name of Jasper senior disappears from the proceedings of the town meetings than the names of John, Azariah and Jasper, Jr., are brought into recognition. The patents for land in Newark to Jasper Crane, Aug. 25, 1675, covering one hundred and sixty-eight acres, are as follows: "House lot 14 acres, 17 a. his first division on great Neck, 11 a. in part for his second division on said Neck, 6 a. on said Neck, 4 a. at bottom of the Neck, 20 a. for his second division by Two Mile Brook, 26 a. his third division by head of Mile Brook, 20 a. for his third division at the head of the branch of Second River, 14 a. of meadow for his first division at Great Island, 12 a. of meadow for his second division by the Great Pond, 14 a. for proportion of bogs, 5 a. of meadow near the Great Island, 1 a. of meadow at Beef Point, 4 a. of meadow near Wheeler's Point, yielding 1/2 penny lawful money of England, or in such pay as the country doth produce at merchants' price, for every one of the said acres, the first payment to begin the 25th of March, which was in the year 1670." These lands were taken up and occupied some time prior to date of the patents. Another warrant seems to have been issued to Jasper Crane, May 1, 1675, for 103 acres of land in Newark.

of the county to order matters for the safety fo the country. June 17, 1672, Mr. Crane was again chosen magistrate, and also chosen "President of the Quarterly Court to be held in Newark, to begin September next." He was also given "liberty to sell liquors in the town till the country order after it." .

At a town meeting July 1, 1673, Mr. Crane was chosen to serve on a committee, with Mr. Bond, Mr. Swain, Mr. Kitchell and Mr. Lyon, to consider with messengers from other towns about sending a petition to the Lords Proprietors in England for the removal of grievances; and July 5th the town agreed to pay for sending the messenger to England, as the above committee had agreed with Mr. Delavall about money to cover that expense.

August 4th the town chose Mr. Crane, Mr. Bond, Lieut. Swain and Sergeant John Ward deputies to treat with the generals about having a privileged county between the two rivers Passaic and Aresimus. August 12 again chosen magistrate; September 6th, on committee to try and secure the "Neck" to add to the possessions of Newark; and September 10th instructed by the town to "treat with the generals, and, if they can, to buy it." It would seem the committee were successful, for October 25th Mr. Crane, Mr. Molyne and Mr. Hopkins were chosen to look after the confirmation of the purchase of the Neck and see for further agreement in respect to pay. November 17th Capt. Swain and Mr. Crane were chosen to continue the trade for the Neck. The following year (June 29, 1674) the town voted to have Mr. Crane and Mr. Pierson, Jr., carry the petition and present it to the Governor and Council at North Orange to "obtain confirmation of their bought and paid for lands." August 10, 1675, was again chosen magistrate. Mr. Crane was now becoming quite advanced in years, and the important and exacting services required of him by the town must have proved a heavy tax upon his strength, for he now dropped out of political office, while his sons, John, Azariah and Jasper, Jr. began to work in. Feb. 19, 1678-9, it having been discovered that many of the settlers had taken up lands contrary to a town agreement, Mr. Crane stated at a town meeting that he would lay down all lands so taken if others would, and March 10th following he was chosen, with Robert Dalglish and Jasper Crane, Jr., to lay out Samuel Potter's lot again. This entry, so far as the public records of Newark shows, closes the public life of the senior Jasper Crane.

If we may judge from the entries upon the Newark Town Records we should say that, next to Robert Treat, Jasper Crane was the most prominent figure in the early settlement of the town. After Treat returned to Connecticut, Jasper Crane's name came first in the filling by popular vote the highest and most responsible positions of public trust in the settlement. That he held the confidence of the people is clearly manifested by their returning him annually for so many years, and until the infirmities of age unfitted him for further public service. But the family name and traits of character were appreciated, for no sooner, then the name of Jasper senior disappears from the proceedings of the town meetings than the names of John, Azariah and Jasper, Jr., are brought into recognition. The patents for land in Newark to Jasper Crane, Aug. 25, 1675, covering one hundred and sixty-eight acres, are as follows: "House lot 14 acres, 17 a. his first division on great Neck; 11 a. in part for his second division on said Neck, 6 a. on said Neck, 4 a. at bottom of the Neck, 20 a. for his second division by Two Mile Brook, 26 a. his third division by head of Mile Brook, 20 a. for his third division at the head of the branch of Second River, 14 a. of meadow for his first division at Great Island, 12 a. of meadow for his second division by the Great Pond, 14 a. for proportion of boys, 5 a. of meadow near the Great Island, 1 a. of meadow at Beef Point, 4 a. of meadow near Wheeler's Point, yielding 1/2 penny lawful money of England, or in such pay as the country doth produce at merchants' price, for every one of the said acres, the first payment to begin the 25th of March, which was in the year 1670." These lands were taken up and occupied some time prior to date of the patents. Another warrant seems to have been issued to Jasper Crane, May 1, 1675, for 103 acres of land in Newark.

At a town meeting held Aug. 24, 1670, an agreement was made with Mr. Robert Treat and Sergt. Richard Harrison to build and maintain a sufficient corn-mill upon the brook called Mill Brook. They were given sole privilege of this brook, with all the town grists, and all stone within the town limits suitable for millstones, with all the timber that was prepared by Joseph Horton for the mill, and two days' work of every man and woman that holds an allotment in the town, with all the lands formerly granted to Joseph Horton. They were to hold this land as their own so long as they held and maintained the mill, and not to dispose of the mill without consent of the town. The town was also to give thirty pounds in good wheat, pork, beef, or one-fourth in good Indian corn, at such prices as would enable them to exchange it for or procure iron, millstones, or the workman's wages, &c.: Winter wheat 5 shillings per bushel; summer wheat 4s. 5d.; pork 3d. per lb.; beef 2d.; Indian corn 2s. 6d. per bushel. As Mr. Treat was to return to Connecticut, Jasper Crane assumed his portion of the contract.

From Jasper Crane we have a large number of descendants -- one branch of them located westward of Newark, and five or six miles distant, calling the lace Cranetown. Some of his descendants located four miles southward of Newark, at a place called Elizabeth Town. Among those who settled here was Stephen Crane, who there is good reason to believe was an elder son of Jasper, born in England about 1630.

From these points members of the family pressed their way further westward, crossing the Passaic River, settling Morris County. They were all remarkable for frugality, honesty and piety, and were mostly Presbyterians. It has been said by one, not a member of the family, "no more respectable people, no better citizens, are found in our communities than those who bear Crane blood in them."

Oct. 30, 1666, at a meeting in Branford, Conn., the preliminary agreement outlining the conduct of the proposed new settlement upon the "Passiack River in the Province of New Jersey" was signed by many Branford people, among them Jasper Crane senior and his sons John and Delivered.* These three names appear among the first proprietors of the town of Newark, and at the town meeting held Feb. 6, 1667, Mr. Jasper Crane, John and Deliverance* appear to have been present. Thenceforth for more than a century the name of Crane occupied a conspicuous place in the annals of the town, and scarcely a town meeting was held during a period of one hundred years that there was not a Crane chosen to fill some town office, and it was not unusual to elect to public positions several of the name at one meeting. But March 13, 1759, the family seemed to have reached the zenith of its popularity, for at that meeting by vote of the town eight different offices were filled by Cranes. As it appears, however, that John Crane was chosen collector and John Crane to serve on a committee to settle a line in the parsonage land, it may have required but seven Cranes to fill the eight positions; so that the election held this day exceeded but a trifle that held March 12, 1754, when six Cranes were elected to fill seven public positions. Their names were: John, for collector; Timothy and Ezekiel, surveyors of Highways; Elijah and William, overseers of the poor; John, clerk of strays; Noah, on committee to settle the line between the towns of Newark and Elizabethtown.

Jasper Crane's will, dated 1678, named children John, Azariah, Jasper and Hannah Huntington, and granddaughter Hannah Huntington; John to have his "silver bole." Mr. Crane was probably born about 1605, and died 1681, his will having been proved that year, and names wife Alice.

56. Rhoda BALL. Born ? 1780 in New Jersey. Died in New Jersey. Buried in ?Union, Union Co. Presbyterian Church, NJ.

She married William M. JOHNSON, 1804 in Jefferson Village (now Maplewood), NJ.

Thanks to Dick Weisiger: "Jefferson Village is now called Maplewood, NJ. (...) The original village was situated near the current intersection of Jefferson Avenue and Maplewood Avenue. The village was situated in a valley formed on the west by the Orange mountain, and to the east by the opposite ridge of high ground declining towards Newark and sea level. These are the first hills encountered northwest of newark. Jefferson Village is significant to our group because it was first occupied by several of the offspring of Edward Ball. All of the land laying between the Passaic River where the first beginnings of Newark sprang up and the top of the Orange Mountain (then called Newark Mountain) was held to belong to Newark and it was not difficult for the Ball family to get a patent to a tract of land within that Area. Edward's son Thomas settled on such a tract between North Farms and Jefferson Village. The most impressive Ball home is that of Thomas's son, Timothy. I have a history and photos of the Timothy Ball House, which is now called the Washington Inn because George Washington stayed there during the battle of Springfield. ... Other grandsons of Edward Ball also built homes in Jefferson Village.

"By 1796, Jefferson Village was considered part of Springfield Township, yet the only public building was a school. Because Jefferson Village was several miles from the toll road connecting the two "large" towns of Morristown and Newark (which at that time had 250 and 1000 inhabitants respectively), it was considered remote and had no business district. By 1815 it had over thirty families and applied for its own post office. About that time a land speculator bestowed the name of Maplewood on a railway station built at his own expense in Jefferson Village, and the name took hold.

Charles E. Beach, p. 219

CHARLES E. BEACH (deceased) was born in East Bloomfield, N. Y., January 31, 1819, a son of Chauncey, who was a son of Chauncey, who was a son of Amos, who was a son of John, who was a son of John, who was a son of Thomas, a native of England.

In 1639 there came from England three brothers --Richard, John and Thomas - who settled in New Haven, Conn., where Thomas, in 1654, mar- ried Sarah, daughter of Richard Platt, and of their children one son, John, was born October 19, 1655, and died in 1709. John Beach had one son also named John, born October 15, 1600, in Wal- lingford, Conn., who in 1738 moved to Goshen, same State where he died May 9, 1773. On August 8, 1715, he was married to Sarah Taylor, who died, leaving one son, Barney, and John Beach then married, February 22, 1717, Mary Roys, to which union one son, Amos, was born January 28, 1724. Amos Beach married, December 24, 1746, Mary Rich, and their son Chauncey was born in Goshen, Conn., November 11, 1748, and became the grandfather of the subject of this sketch.

Chauncey Beach received his education in his native town, and was reared to the milling business, which he followed many years. He remained in Goshen until 1801, when he removed to West Bloomfield, N. Y., where he died May 13, 1825, a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. In politics he was a Federalist originally, and dur- ing the later years of his life a Whig. On De- cember 24, 1772, he married Catherine Alvord, who was born November 21, 1750, and the following record of their family of children gives the names and dates of birth: Erastus, June 3, 1775; Olive, May 5, 1777; Lucy, October 6, 1778; Ambrose, August 14, 1780; Abram, May 12, 1782; Elisha, June 23, 1783; Theron, July 9, 1785; Catherine, June 29, 1787; Chauncey, May 5, 1789 and Nathaniel, October 26, 1791.

Channcey Beach, father of Charles E., was born in Goshen, Conn., where he received the earlier part of his education, and, as will be seen, was about twelve years old when his parents moved with their family to West Bloomfield, N. Y. After leaving school be learned the trade of cabinet maker, but abandoned it to take up that of his father, milling, which, having mastered, he carried on in West Bloomfield until 1836, when he moved to Parma, N. Y., thence to Ohio, to a place now known as Kent. There he remained seven years, at the end of which time he went to Painesville; then after a few years he proceeded to West Cleveland. At the latter place he resided but six months, when he moved to Akron, and thence, after three years, came to Monongahela City, all the time engaged in the milling business until old age compelled him to retire from active work. On August 19. 1813, Mr. Beach married Matilda Eggleston, of West Bloomfield, who became the mother of four children, viz.: Catherine, born August 2, 1814; James W., born October 2, 1816; Cbarles E., born January 31, 1819, and Cordelia, born August 29, 1821. The mother passed from earth July 21, 1866, the father May 19, 1870. He was a Whig until the change of the party was consummated, when he became a Republican.

Charles E. Beach was educated at the public schools of his native town -- proving a deep and diligent student. When n young man be entered his father's mill, and remained there several years. In 1847 the family moved to Monongahela, City, Penn., where he and his father bought the flouring mill, but in 1867 sold it, and then, in company with his father, bought an interest in the lumber yard and planing mill in Monongahela City, now owned by Blythe & Co. On account of poor health he sold his interest in 1876, and retired from business. On September 23,] 858, he married Emma Pierce, and the children by that union were Matilda E., M. Edith and Amanda S., of whom the first and last named are deceased. The mother of these children died January 1, 1866, and March 29, 1870, Mr. Beach was married to Eliza- beth daughter of Thomas Heslep. One child, Nellie, was born to them. Our subject was a stanch Republican in his political views, and was recognized as a leading and enterprising man in the community. His widow is still a resident of Mo- nongahela City.

Thomas Heslep, father of Mrs. Elizabeth Beach, was born in Chester county, Penn., in 1801, a son of John Heslep, a native of the same county, who married a Miss Grant, nod had by her several children, of whom the following names are obtain- able: Robert, John, George and Thomas. John Heslep came to Washington county at an early day, and purchased a farm in Carroll township where he died. He was a Whig in politics, and in Cburch connection a Baptist. Thomas Heslep was reared partly in Washington county, partly in Pittsburgh. He married Margaret McCormick, of Pigeon Creek, and they then settled on n farm in Somerset town ship, where he died in 1860; his wife is also dead. He kind two children. Elizabeth (Mrs. Charles E. Beach) and John. Mr. Heslep was first a Whig, afterward a Republican, and in church connection he was a sound Presbyterian.

Frances:
According to "Descendants of Thomas and Richard Brush ....." your PHEBE BRUSH is #86 [Too bad but this is a male-only book, so there's nothing on PHEBE's line coming forward]. PHEBE was the daughter of ISAAC BRUSH b. 1693 at Huntington d. 1758 at Huntington; int. St. John's Episcopal Cemetery, Huntington. Her mother was SARAH PLATT b. 1692/93 d. by 1729, when ISSAC m. a second time. SARAH PLATT's parents were EPENETUS PLATT and PHEBE WOOD [both of whom are my ancestors .... PHEBE's side was covered a month or so ago w/ the JONAS WOOD "Halifax" and JONAS WOOD "Oram" material]

ash

ISAAC BRUSH was son of JOHN BRUSH b. ca. 1654 at Southold and d. ca. 1640 at Huntington. He had 3 wives. ISAAC's mother was wife #2 Widow ELIZABETH PLATT GRIFFIN..... daughter of ISAAC PLATT and ELIZABETH WOOD and widow of SAMUEL GRIFFIN [You sure have PLATTs and WOODs in this line!] Elizabeth was b. 1665 and was d. by 1730 when husband m. wife #3.

JOHN was son of THOMAS BRUSH b. ca. 1630 in England d. 1670 at Huntington. Mother was REBECCA CONKLIN b. ca. 1630 England d. 1670 HUntington. She is daughter of JOHN CONKLIN and this ties you into the HUGE Conklin line of LI and NYS. [THOMAS and REBECCA are my ancestors, also]
